

Executive Leadership and Business Coach Janna Hoiberg Announces New Book Release, The Family Business: How to be in Business with People You Love Without Hating Them

A must read for anyone in a family business, Janna Hoiberg's newest book features ways to minimize (notice it doesn't say eliminate) family conflict, business stress, and potential business failure.

Colorado Springs, CO (PRWEB) August 23, 2013 -- The Family Business: How to be in Business with People You Love Without Hating Them

Family businesses are wonderful. They provide a great environment for family and extended family to work together, except when the relationships don't work. Then the impact to the family, the business and the employees can be catastrophic.

As an Executive and Leadership Business Coach, Janna has had the opportunity to help businesses from start-up ventures through large organizations increase their profits, improve their systems, strengthen team and executive leadership, and grow their companies significantly.

Learn more about:

- Joys, challenges, opportunities and threats in a family business.
- How to improve communication within the family and the business.
- Ways to create boundaries between work and home.
- Relationships between family members to each other and other employees.
- How to pass the torch from one generation to another.

“Janna Hoiberg makes the principles of clarity, focus, and execution come alive. Best practices, case studies, and insights from her accomplished experience make this book a must read for any business owner, new or established.”—Tony Jeary, The RESULTS Guy™

"Successful family enterprises require careful attention to best practices. Janna Hoiberg's business experience, insights and accomplished perspective bring practical focus to what makes family-owned businesses work and thrive." —Kevin Knebl International Speaker/Author/Trainer/Advisor
